Subject: Genetically Engineered Seeds

President Clinton:

I am disturbed by a recent news report stating that the Department of Agriculture is considering placing genetically engineered seeds on the market and that farmers will be required to purchase them. In addition, any farmers using seeds from their previous year's crops will be penalized.

I am sorry to take your time but I need to know if you, as President of the United States, will have a say in this matter. If so, what is your position?

Personally, I feel it's time the great scientists of this country allow nature to do her own work. Mankind has done quite enough damage.

Respectfully,
Patricia S. Rose

Sincerely,
